license under the prohibition law ap-peared yesterday before Judge D. C. Richardson in the Hustings Court, and kept him busy until late in the after-noon. Wholesale droggists, hotel men and dispensers of soft drinks had the first innings.

Everything passed off quietly until the hotel managers were reached and at this point, Guy T. Horner, attorney for the Fastern District, under the Prohibition Commissioner, addressed the court and discussed four rules promulgated by Commissioner Peters which were designed to prevent any abuse by hotels of the privilege of using ardent spirits for culinary pur-poses. He declared that the hostelries poses. He declared that the hostelries had refused to subscribe to the rules, and that he would oppose the granting of ficenses to them until they

RULES LAID DOWN FOR REEPING LIQUOR IN HOTELS

The rules in question follow:
"1. Ardent spirits as defined in secon 1 of chapter 145 of Acts of Astion 1 of chapter 146 of Acts of Assembly of 1916 (Mapp prohibition law), kept in stock or stored by hetels must be securely kept in one room or locker or refrigerator, and must be under lock and key. One person only shall keep the key to the room or locker or refrigerator in which arient spirits are kept, and no other person is to open or in any way handle such ardent spirits except by permission of the keeper of the keys aforesaid, or in his presence. The name and home in his presence. The name and home address of the keeper of said keys hand custodian of said ardent spirits shall be filed with the Commissioner of

"2. All ardent spirits distursed or distributed or released in any way by aforesaid custodian shall be recorded vacuum." in a book kept for the purpose, in, which shall be entered by the custodian the exact kind and quantity of ardent spirits withdrawn from his keeping, the date of such withdrawal and the name and home address of the person to whom it is delivered and person to whom it is delivered and the purpose for which it is released.

"3. Actual measured inventory of ardent spirits in store must be taken the first day of each month showing not only the kind of ardent spirits, but actually showing the specific kinds of ardent spirits. of ardent spirits. This inventory with like particularity must show the quan-tity of each on hand the first day of the previous month, the amounts acquired during the interim and the bal-ance remaining on date of inventory Ardent spirits, if used, must be intermixed with culinary articles of food and beverages in the culinary department by employees, and not outside

"4. All storerooms for ardent spirits titchen and culinary products, must be subject to inspection by any State or municipal officer charged with the enforcement of the laws governing ardent spirits at all times, and unon request samples of food and beverages be submitted to said officers for

MEN AGREE TO RESTRICTIONS

Judge Richardson announced that he ould defer the hearing of hotel licenses until to-morrow. Mr. Horner invited the hotel men to discuss the matter with him, and a conference was held at the Richmond Hotel, with the following hotels represented Richmond.

Jefferson, Rueger's, Stumpf's and the Street Lexington. The bonifaces finally were persuded to accept the rules, and Mr. Horner returned to the court and withdrew his objection "The hotel men," said Mr. Horner

"did not fully understand the rules and the necessity of a policy of strict reg-ulation. When their importance and scope was fully explained they were prompt in their assurance that they would be kept. The law not only requires that the applicant for a license to use ardent spirits shall be of good moral character, but that the hotel for which license is sought is a reputable one, and that the business of keeping a hotel is carried on in good faith. He is required further to show that a necessity exists for the granting of such license. It is possible that some of the foods now served will have to be discontinued, but the hardship worked on a hotel in requiring it to revise its menu is no greater than the inconvenience to the individual in accommodating his personal habits to changed conditions. scope was fully explained they were changed conditions

"In some of our neighboring States the hotels were brought into disrepute by acts of irresponsible employees whose access to the store of ardent spirits was too free and unguarded. Under the rule of the department, both the public and the management of the hotel is safeguarded against such violations. The attitude of the department is that if an applicant for hotel license to use ardent spirits for cullment is that if an applicant for hotel license to use ardent spirits for cull-nary purposes is unwilling to keep these rules he brings himself under suspicion of being an unfit person to be intrusted with the extraordinary privilege conferred by this form of license."

Prohibition Commissioner Opposes Police Census Shows Only Sixty-Four Out of More Than 150 That Will Be Vacant-Confectioneries and Restaurants Take Many.

Chief of Police Werner yesterday announced the result of the census taken by Captain Sherry, of the First Police Station; Captain Sowell, of the Second, and Captain Wright, of the Third, as to how buildings, formerly occupied as saloons, will be operated in the future. There were 154 buildings conducted in the past as saloons and barrooms, sixty-four of which will be vacant for a time at least. The remainder will be used for various purposes. Most of the hotel bars will be transformed into confectionery stands.

SCHOOLS TO CO-OPERATE IN "SAFETY-FIRST" WEEK

portance of Watchfulness in Homes and on Streets.

In all of the various mottoes on more than 75,000 placards to be distributed in every section of the city during the Safety-First campaign, the week of November 6 to 11, probably there is none so impressive or so effectively brief as the slogan of the Boy Scouts-"Re Prepared," a slogan that covers every Safety-First principle. The underlying object of the campaign is to instill in the minds of the children of Richmond, particularly those attending the public schools, "safety-first" conduct in the homes, on the streets and at play. Every teacher in the schools has been asked to deliver a short talk to the milk on the liver a short talk to the pupils on the practical application of safety first principles and to this end, Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Superintendent of Schools, has ordered a general observance of exery street ear in the city will carry safety signs and practically every motor car will be furnished with miniature pennants for display on windshields, by the courtesy of the Richmond Automobile Club. The "Safety-First" idea is an expression of the modern spirit of efficiency, and tends to the rapid development of industry. For this reason every effort will be For this reason every effort will be made to impress upon manufacturing concerns here the need for an active participation in the campaign.
